Conference Dates

Ridgewood High School looks forward to hosting the 2010 Global Learning Classroom Conference. We have planned to have all participants to arrive on June 9, 2010 at John F. Kennedy or Newark Airports. We will provide transfer information to Ridgewood and will post that information on the Wiki. Departure is planned for June 18, 2010

Participant Profile/Health Form

Please complete the participant profile and required health form and email to jlorenz@ridgewood.k12.nj.us before March 18, 2010. This will assist us with hosting arrangements. Finding host families is a bit of a challenge for us and

Conference Theme

---

The theme of this year's Global Learning Classroom Conference is Identity: Migration/Immigration. This is a very important topic to collaborate on as it impacts every country in the world. We have created a Wiki and I urge you to begin using it. There has been very little activity on the Blog. A gift will be presented to the individuals of the school with the greatest participation on the Blog. So let's get active. Please pay attention to Task #6 so we can post our podcasts and share our learning. We will archive everything on the Wiki and create a "Video Vault" to be reopened in 3 years at the Conference in 2013.

Program Update

---

Please review the program plan for our conference. We are still working on finalizing the program but only minor changes are anticipated. Each person should plan on bringing some money for some admission costs which should not exceed $60 USD. This cost could be less depending on contributions we receive from some benefactors. The temperature at this time of the year ranges from 55° F to 75° F. Please bring comfortable walking/hiking shoes and a light jacket.
